DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's amendment dated April 11, 2008, responding to the Office action mailed January 30, 2008 provided in the rejection of claims 15-20, wherein claim 15 has been amended.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 1 and 3-20 are allowed.

3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

As pointed out by Applicant, the prior art of record fails to teach and/or suggest “ in a first phase of compiling process ... comprising a front-end phase, an inter-procedural analysis phase in which cross-module analysis is performed ... and a back-end phase in which the plurality of modules are processed individually, the inter-procedural phase being the first phase; determining to in-line a first function in a first module into a second function in a second module but not performing said in-line during the first phase ...

in the second phase of the compiling process, the back-end phase being the second phase, following the instructions to in-line code of the first function into the second function in the second module without accessing the first module”, as recited in independent claim 1 and similarly recited in other independent claims 10 and 15 (amendment dated October 27, 2007, pages 7-9)

The thinking behind this unique and inventive aspect is that, while in-lining is conventionally performed earlier and more naturally in the IPA (Inter-Procedural Analysis) phase, the IPA phase is not parallelizable or not easily parallelizable. In other words, the IPA phase runs in a serial fashion and can become a compile-time bottleneck for large programs. In contrast, the FE (Front-End) and BE (Back-End) phases are parallelizable. The technique where the in-lining decisions are made in the IPA phase, but the actual in-lining is delayed until the BE phase. This advantageously allows the actual in-lining to be performed in a parallel manner during the BE phase (recited in amendment dated October 27, 2007, page 8, last paragraph through page 9, first paragraph)

4. Claims 3-9, 11-14, and 16-20 are considered allowable by virtue of their dependence on allowable independent claims 1, 10, and 15 respectively.
5. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
